President's Message

Jingle bells, Christmas trees, holiday lighting, and lots of good cheer alerts us to approaching holidays. The hustle and bustle of preparations and the finding of that perfect gift sometimes dull our senses to the neediest in our society. However, Theta Lambda is a special chapter because of the giving spirit each member brings to our chapter. "Small yet Mighty" is a slogan that truly exemplifies this spirit. Throughout the years our projects have touched the lives of children, teens, and adults. The Christmas spirit is year round in Theta Lambda. December 17th, remember to bring items for Park Youth Ranch holiday stockings, change for Africa, and most importantly a visitor. This would be a great meeting to show potential members the true spirit of Theta Lambda. Who wouldn't want to join after that?

Wishing you all the very BEST!

Stacy Frenchwood, Theta Lambda Chapter President

Meeting Agenda

November 12, 2018

Members present: Jane Meyer, Mary Herlitz, Jan Randolph, Teri Marrow, Sally, Kubiak, Catherine Hague, Carol TenBrook, Laura Downs, Nancy Dobbs, Stacy Frenchwood, Michele Croft

Thank you Kappa Kappa members for attending! Kathy Speech, Denise Cronin, Theresa Toliver

Thank you to Terri Morrow for our program: Is it Rude, Mean or Bullying?

Rude is often unintentional.

Mean aims to hurt or humiliate someone. It is intentional.

Helpful to have students understand this continuum of behaviors.

Students often play multiple roles, so it is important to understand.

Bullying is cruel behavior done on purpose and repeated with power over another. Its purpose is to intimidate or hold over others so that the person will not tell.

Relational aggression can often times go unnoticed by adults.

Boys Adrift and Girls on the Edge by Leonard Sax are two books that deal with these issues. Sticks and Stones by Emily Bazelon was also recommended.

Inspiration – Thank You Sally Kubiak
